

Abstract Of The Disclosure

A control unit for a restraint system fires all connected pyrotechnic firing elements. The control unit receives for that purpose, via an interface, a software element that configures all the firing circuits and the triggering algorithm for firing all the firing 5 circuits, and that emulates for a safety module sensor values such that the safety module enables all the firing circuits.